Saving Huey Foundation

Huey was rescued from a life of dog fighting. He is the inspiration for our Foundation, which works to raise awareness to horrors of animal abuse.

The ranch needs help with:

Raking, filling holes, cleaning up poop, playing with the puppies, sitting with the senior dogs, etc.

If you are interested in volunteering please email @ savinghuey@gmail.com to set up a time.

Please visit their website if you would like more information @ savinghuey.org

The Saving Huey Foundation is a small 501c3, non-profit organization located in Southern California. The organization was founded by Tracy Lystra and her family after a good samaritan discovered Huey wandering the foothills of Moreno Valley on a cold, rainy night in 2014. This battered and bruised pup, whom was believe was used as a bait dog, much to their and the vets surprise defied the odds and survived his injuries. Huey lived happily with the Lystra's until his passing on May 31, 2017.

Our Beliefs We are committed to:

- Increasing public awareness of animal abuse.
- Teaching children respect and compassion for animals.
- Developing awareness of the potential of all animals, despite any type of disability or medical condition.

Our Actions We will:

- Provide medical care and rehabilitation for animals who are victims of severe abuse and/or neglect, or who have a disability.
- Find homes for animals who have been severely abused and/or neglected, as well as those with disabilities.
- Develop educational programs, including shelter reading programs, school outreach and community events.
