Teachers participate in PLC time, scheduled PD, staff meetings, and other training opportunities.

- Students are assigned up to 6 hours of learning each week per course. This learning includes a blend of asynchronous, synchronous, and independent practice.
- On Monday, students are expected to begin their day with their homeroom teacher (information provided by site). Following, they will check the online course updates during each period to complete the asynchronous materials and independent practice that may be assigned.
- While intervention is an extension to each period Tuesday through Friday, it is important to note that these minutes are instructional minutes. If a student is not participating in the intervention and synchronous instruction assigned by the teacher, they are expected to continue the work of the course that is assigned.
